

not let us make fun of any church or people or God may permit us to be punished. Do not let us get off the Bible command, Love one another. We are also commanded to love our enemies. We have a good preacher again, Brother Keller, he has been working hard for the church; wherever I have been preaching for him the people speak well of him. I have been preaching for the Lutheran and Bethel people when the pastors are absent. I believe it is my Christian duty to do so. Declare the gospel to all people, preach Jesus and him crucified, and then give all the glory to Jesus, and don't say I did this, I have saved so many souls. What could we do without God's help. Nothing, no, nothing.

Ashland Boys in New England

The next morning after college closed in early June, quite a number of Ashland people boarded the 8:34 train. At Mansfield, the first stop, the party was broken. Many went to State Conference, a number to their homes and others to other places. The party en route for New England was composed of brother Perry Clapper of Louisville, O., James Grable of Scenery Hill, Penna., Frank B. Amend of Mifflin, Ohio, brother Frank B. Yoder of Morrill, Kansas, brother Chas. M. Holsinger of Oakville, Indiana, and the writer.

After leaving Mansfield, the first place we came to of any particular note was Cleveland, Ohio. The portion of the city we saw was very dusty and dirty. However, signs of industry and activity were about us on every hand. We observed that the farms for miles and miles on either side of Cleveland were devoted to the cultivation of grapes. We all saw more vineyards that afternoon than in all past times put together.

Nothing of particular importance was seen or occurred until we reached Buffalo about 7 P. M. After making some inquiries, we concluded to take lodging and breakfast with Mrs. W. H. Leak, 380 Maryland Street, Buffalo. Before going there, we took a ride on the "Belt Line" Railway, for five cents, that took us up to and entirely around the Exposition grounds. The electric illumination must be seen to be appreciated. It is wonderful. We found the Leak family to be a thoroughly Christian family, who left no deed undone to accommodate us perfectly. You very seldom meet such a splendid Christian family as you find here. Any of the EVANGELIST readers who contemplate attending the Exposition will do yourselves a favor if you write Mrs. Leak and engage your quarters before going to Buffalo. The place is easily and conveniently reached from down town and within a two minute's walk of the Elmwood car line for the Exposition grounds. Rates are one dollar and twenty-five cents for a bed and breakfast. Bath and every modern convenience in the home. It is not safe to take quarters less than that price.

Our party spent two days at the Exposition. Not all the buildings were completed but we were repaid a hundred times over in what we observed and learned. We all have some choice memory gems that we secured from the large columns that guard the esplanade. From here we went to Niagara twenty-four hours. It may not be saying too much to say that the day was spent as profitably as either day at Buffalo.

From here we departed for New York City via the D. L. and W. R. R., whose beautiful scenery is second only to that of the N. Y. C. Two days were spent in New York City and Brooklyn. Among other places of interest and importance, we visited Central Park, Brooklyn Navy Yard and the great Brooklyn Bridge. After using our time to the best possible advantage we boarded a sound line steamer at 6:00 P. M., and after an exceedingly pleasant night's sail, we landed in Fall River, Mass., about 5:30 the next morning. Here we formed into two parties of three members each and departed by rail for our territory for summer's work which is just outside the city limits of Boston.

The first session of the third quarterly Missionary Conference of the Brethren churches of Pennsylvania was called to order by the retiring moderator, brother D. J. Bole of Pittsburg. After a few appropriate remarks the moderator, brother Henry Wise conducted the devotional exercise. The election of officers resulted in the following: Moderator, D. J. Bole; vice moderator, J. B. Wampler; secretary, J. L. Bowman; treasurer, A. J. Miller.

The moderator then appointed the following committees:

On queries, Mrs. A. J. Miller, Lucetta Stahl and Mrs. Mary Dimond.

Programme committee, Henry Wise, J. L. Bowman, A. J. Miller.

On resolution, J. B. Wampler, Sisters Dimond and Maud Miller.

After the committees were appointed, the address of welcome was given by sister Maud Miller, of Jones' Mills. Responses by Wampler, Wise, Bowman, Miller, Bole and Sister Dimond.

The regular programme of the evening was deferred to the following evening.

Miscellaneous business. Benediction by J. B. Wampler.

SECOND SESSION

Thursday morning, 10:30. Devotional exercises by the moderator, D. J. Bole. At this session a most interesting Bible reading was given by J. B. Wampler from the first chapter of Acts. Benediction, J. L. Bowman.

THIRD SESSION

Thursday afternoon, 2:30. Devotional service by J. L. Bowman.

The afternoon session was profitably and interestingly spent in the discussion of queries.

Benediction, Henry Wise.

FOURTH SESSION

Thursday evening, 8:00. Devotional exercises conducted by J. B. Wampler. At this juncture a letter of greeting and regret was read from R. Z. Replogle.

The topic of the evening, What can we do to create a greater missionary spirit in Pennsylvania, was then taken up and discussed. The following points were produced, Go, Give, Work, Live, On your knees. Harness yourself to the Lord's work. Total collection, $7.04. Benediction, D. J. Bole.

FIFTH SESSION

Friday morning, 10:30 This session was opened by J. L. Bowman. The discussion of the previously assigned queries occupied the time of this session which was a most spiritual one. Benediction, J. B. Wampler.

SIXTH SESSION

Opening service by Henry Wise. The second resurrection and the results was well discussed by J. B. Wampler. The first resurrection and its results by Henry Wise merited the closest attention thru-out the discussion. D. J. Bole most fittingly closed the discussion by asking the question, Which part do you choose?

The committee on resolution reported the following:

WHEREAS, In the providence of God we were permitted to meet in the third quarterly Missionary Conference of Pennsylvania and having passed thru its several sessions very pleasantly and we trust to profit too in the advancement of our Holy Christianity, having received a cordial welcome from Jones' Mills congregation, we your committee are pleased to offer the following resolutions in behalf of said Missionary Conference.

1. Resolved, that the thanks of this conference be extended to all who have so kindly and hospitably entertained the several representatives and others in attendance.

2. Resolved, That the thanks of this conference are due the choir for the excellent music rendered during its several sessions.

3. Resolved, That the moderator and secretary be commended for the able manner in which the several sessions of the conference were conducted.

4. Resolved, That we, the representatives and people of this conference use our best endeavors and recommend the several congregations of our beloved brotherhood, in the state of Pennsylvania the importance of a greater and more united effort in the mission cause.

5. Resolved, That as a conference we unitedly endorse every legal effort, hinder, restrain, suppress and wholly prohibit the manufacture and sale of all alcoholic spirits as a beverage in our fair land and thus save the sons and daughters of America. Faithfully submitted by your committee.

J. B. WAMPLER,
MARY DIMOND,
MAUD MILLER.

Closing remarks. Miscellaneous business. Benediction, J. B. Wampler. Adjourned to meet at the call of the moderator.

J. L. BOWMAN, Sec'y.
